5.6.2019 Anderson Remarks

One Last Time.....

The TNVoice Task Force team was convened in mid-December 2018 by Vice Provost for Faculty Affairs John Zomchick in response to the Faculty Senate Resolution Concerning Analysis of SAIS/EOC/TNVoice Scores and Bias. The members of the committee include myself Lisa Yamagata-Lynch as chair and Stephanie Bohon, Catherine Luther, Charles Noble, Elizabeth Pemberton, Beth Schussler, and Gary Skolits. The task force efforts for the spring 2019 semester has been focused on identifying key university units to collaborate for the data collection and analysis of the TNVoice data, and preparing the over 30 thousand faculty teaching evaluation data into a form that is ready for random sampling as well as analysis. In this process we have found that it is critical to work closely with Institutional Research and Assessment as well as the Office of Information Technology for data collection, random sampling, and ensuring that the data is organized in a manner that can be analyzed with both quantitative and qualitative data analysis tools. At this stage, we have begun our initial analysis, and will continue to work through the summer to prepare our report to the Faculty Senate.