

UTK-UTIA COLLEGE AND DEPARTMENT BYLAWS AUDIT

Draft: December 3, 2021

This document presents an updated audit of College and Department Bylaws at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville and UT Institute of Agriculture. The audit was initially conducted in 2017-2018 by Faculty Senate Graduate Research Assistant Brooke Killion under the direction of Past Faculty Senate President Beauvais Lyons. Like the bylaws themselves, this is a working document, and we will update this audit as additional information is submitted for review.

It is important that unit bylaws are consistent with the UTK-UTIA Faculty Handbook. Policies such as voting criteria and the composition of search committees are meant to affirm the principles of shared governance, while having discipline-specific criteria for rank is important to assessing faculty performance for annual reviews, tenure and promotion.

From 2019-2021 the Faculty Senate and the Office of the Provost worked together to revise the UTK-UTIA Faculty Handbook to integrate procedures from the Manual for Faculty Evaluation (MFE) into the handbook. As such, college and unit bylaws that reference the MFE should be revised to direct readers to the appropriate chapter of the handbook. Additionally, because sections numbers in the handbook can change, as a general rule, we recommend that bylaws should only reference the appropriate chapter and generally avoid including hyperlinks except to chapter sections.

All college and Department bylaws are to be made available to faculty and to be linked to the Faculty Senate Bylaws Directory posted at: <http://senate.utk.edu/bylaws/>. This resource also can serve to give colleges and departments an opportunity to consider their bylaws in relation to other colleges and departments.

This basic audit examines the following six questions:

- Is there a working link to the Faculty Senate Bylaws Directory?
- What is the date of last update? Bylaws should be dated, and include dates of all revisions.
- Do the bylaws include criteria for rank for Assistant, Associate, and Full Professor?
- Do the bylaws define "Voting Faculty"?
- Do the bylaws address the appropriate representation on faculty search committees for new tenure-track faculty?
- Do the bylaws address the process for the appointment and review of non-tenure-track faculty?

Two additional areas which should be addressed in all college and department bylaws include:

- As a result of recent changes to the handbook, colleges and departments are now expected to define promotion criteria for non-tenure track faculty. Departmental criteria for promotion shall not be required if more specific criteria have been established by the applicable college. For more information, see section 4.5.2.
- Do the bylaws include references to the Manual for Faculty Evaluation that need to be redirected to the UTK-UTIA Faculty Handbook?

While not a specific goal of this audit, another area which may require attention is the definition of “faculty,” as some bylaws do not provide a clear definition, often not distinguishing tenure stream faculty (Faculty Handbook, Chapter 3) from Non-Tenure Track Faculty (Faculty Handbook, Chapter 4). It is important to note that consistent with the new Chapter 4, “non-tenure track faculty will be informed, in writing, of the percentage of effort that they are expected to devote to teaching, service, and research/professional development as well as whether the faculty member’s position is contingent upon their ability to secure external funding. This documentation will be provided by the hiring unit to the NTTF at the time of initial appointment and again each time the faculty member is reappointed.”

As part of their regular process of keeping their bylaws mission-focused, academic units are also encouraged to revisit their criteria for rank for tenure-track faculty members in chapter 3, considering ways they recognize (1) forms of engaged teaching, research/scholarship/creative activity, and service, as well as (2) faculty efforts to advance diversity and inclusion efforts.

To provide an overview, the audit first conducted in 2017-2018 uses a color-coding system for the six areas outlined in the initial list of bullet points above. They are:

GREEN: the bylaws pass the audit.

BLUE: there is one portion to revise as noted.

RED: there are two or more portions to revise as

If self-audits justify changes in the assigned color code for an individual unit, justification should be emailed to Beauvais Lyons (blyons@utk.edu). Assignment of color-coding will remain in place until the end of the 2021 calendar year, but all college and department bylaws are expected be revised to comply with the two new requirements: (1) establishing criteria for rank for non-tenure track faculty and (2) removing references to the Manual for Faculty Evaluation and referencing the appropriate section of the Faculty Handbook.

Questions about aligning college and department bylaws with the handbook may be directed to Beauvais Lyons, Chair of the Faculty Affairs Committee (blyons@utk.edu) or Diane Kelly, Vice Provost for Faculty Affairs (dianek@utk.edu). Updates to this audit may be emailed to Beauvais Lyons
